

Acadia Artist Retreat

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior
Acadia National Park, Maine

Get out there and paint

June 24-29, 2018

Welcome Sunday afternoon, June 24 with classes, ranger-led walks, and plenty of time to create throughout the week. The retreat ends Friday night, June 29 with lodging through Saturday morning, or an extended stay, arranged on your own.

A variety of comfortable housing options and a meal package are available so you can concentrate on your art.

Package deal $1,325 includes shared lodging, meals, registration, retreat and facilities fee. Upgrade to a luxury suite, or arrange family housing.

For more information, email Kate_Petrie@nps.gov or call 207 288-1312.

Acadia National Park

Schoodic Peninsula

Join other artists of all skill levels and media for a creative adventure at the rocky shores and rich maritime forests of Schoodic Point. Two master artists and several park ranger-naturalists will be your program leaders for a week of inspiration focusing on the maritime ecology in this quiet yet spectacular area of the coast near Winter Harbor, Maine.

Jana Matusz uses her extensive experience in plein air painting to share tips about strategy, equipment, and where to find the best places on the Schoodic Peninsula to set up your easel ... <http://janamatusz.com/>

Melissa Fischer will will share her approach to nature journaling and sketching wildlife ... <http://www.melissafischer.com/>

We invite you to enjoy this unique opportunity to learn more about the ecology of the natural subjects you paint, to gain inspiration from associating with other environmentally-oriented artists, and to get out there and paint.

